

Team MergeSort(); Milestone 3

Our team did not have a complete working demo during the interview; however, I think our explanation of how our data base has been completely changed for reasonings with our research during the COVID-19 outbreak sufficed for points in this area with the TA. We have a Figma file showing exactly how our app is going to work, showing where and how the main features, such as swiping, recipes, photos, ratings, and allergy restrictions will be shown on our web page. We also showed off how our new database will be oriented, as was modeled by of one of our recent homework files. The TA seemed to think we had good plans for how to reach future project deadlines, and his only suggestion for our web page was that putting an actual swiping feature on a web page might be quite difficult. So, we are still looking into how to implement this properly but will also keep in mind other ways to go about this, such as just using a button instead.
